

A Girl Like Her

© 2007 Will Stanley

A girl like her, is just what I'm looking for Elegant and smart, full of life, with a big heart
She'll do her part to save the world
A girl like her, is the kind that I would prefer
Charming and chic, gorgeous and sweet
I wish I could speak to a girl like her.

A girl like her, would never eat meat or wear fur
She'd keep the house real clean, and read Martha magazine
And always be singing, The Way We Were.
A girl like her, would make love anytime, anywhere
A smile upon her face, for the whole human race
Style combines with grace in a girl like her.

A long time ago, I knew a girl like her
Have a look, there's a resemblance to you
But these last few years, have changed the way you were Now you're not the same girl I once knew.

With a girl like her, I know I'd never get hurt
She wouldn't constantly snipe, she'd know that cheating isn't right
There wouldn't be fights with a girl like her.

She's so charming and chic, so gorgeous and so sweet
I wish I could speak to a girl like her
And I wish you still were, a girl like her.
